Term 2

Week 6

Hello,

Today is the day that we acknowledge and celebrate the work that support staff do in schools across New Zealand. Our support staff is made up of our executive officer Yvette, our teacher aides Sarah, Sharlene and Rebekah, our librarian Kaye, and our caretaking and cleaning staff.

The role that these people play in our school is a very important one providing the 'oil to the machine' that is daily school life and often doing things that simply have to get done to allow the teachers to do their very best for the children in their care.

From the welcoming smile from Yvette when you arrive at school, to the immaculate care that Kaye brings to the library, from Rodney's vacuuming of the school to the work that Sarah, Sharlene and Rebekah do with our extra support programmes and supporting children that need that little extra, all of these things contribute to making our school the neat place that it is.

Reason enough then to say a big thank you to them for their commitment and contribution to our community, our school, and most importantly to the children – THANK YOU!

Kind regards,
 Paul Barker

Free and Healthy Lunches in Schools

It feels like we have been enjoying the free and healthy lunches in schools programme for ever but it has only been six weeks. In the main things are running smoothly and children are enjoying their lunches. Every parent will know that sometimes children are reluctant to try something new and we are encouraging the children to at least give things a go. The good news is that according to a scientific study in 2007 being persistent in trying new things can result in children getting a taste for new food which opens a world of healthy and tasty foods in later life. It takes a little time, but it is worth it and will contribute to a happy and healthy life for the children in the future.
