

Kia ora koutou from Room 6.

We have had a great start to the New Year. We have been busy finding out about each other, making new friends, exploring our classroom resources and learning our classroom routines.

Here are some of the reasons why we like our new class.

In Art we have been making some beautiful flowers to show our Quality Worlds. We have been sharing our special people, what we like to do for fun, what we are good at, and our favourite places.

Thank you so much to those parents and caregivers who found the time to come to the parent interviews and make the time to do the early homework activities that I sent out. I believe the link between home and school really does make a big difference to how happy your child feels at school and how quickly they progress with their learning.
